Your award stems from generosity shown by friends and alumni of the Faculty of Arts.

The Laurie Prizes were established to honour Henry Laurie, philosopher, journalist and professor of Logic and Philosophy in the University of Melbourne. He was the first professor of mental and moral philosophy at the University, taking the position of chair in 1886.

The selection committee would like to know how this scholarship will make a difference to you and your studies. Please write a letter of thanks outlining the possible opportunities this award will offer you.

For example, you may want to include some of the following:

- a little about yourself;
- what this award means to you;
- how you hope to benefit from the award;
- what you are studying; and,
- your experience at the University of Melbourne.

This will be forwarded to the selection committee on your behalf.

The information on this form is being collected by the Faculty of Arts at the University of Melbourne for the purpose of administration and evaluation within the awards program.

The primary reason we are collecting this information is to pass on your expression of thanks to the donor, or the donor's family, and selection committee. We may also wish to use your expression of thanks for marketing and promotional purposes if you give permission for this in the form.

You may access any personal information you have provided on this form by contacting artsawards-info@unimelb.edu.au.

The information you provide will be used by authorised University staff and contracted service providers for the purpose for which it was collected. It will not be transferred outside Australia unless to an entity operating under equivalent privacy obligations. We will not disclose your personal information to anybody else unless you have given consent, or we are authorised or required to do so by law.

Your information will also be used by the Faculty of Arts for statistical analysis, in support of the continuous improvement of the awards program. This includes quality assurance and planning purposes.

We will retain your personal information only for as long as required for the purpose it was collected and in accordance with our legislative obligations. This information is then securely destroyed in accordance with the University's retention and disposal authority.

The University of Melbourne is governed by the Privacy and Data Protection Act 2014 (Vic), the Health Records Act 2001 (Vic), and, to the extent that they apply to our activities, the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and the EU General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679 (GDPR), when collecting and managing personal information.

You may request access to, or correction of, information we hold about you, or exercise rights of access, rectification, erasure and other rights under the GDPR, at any time. For further information about how the University manages personal information, including our privacy policy, and for details of how to make an enquiry or complaint or to contact the University's Privacy and Data Protection Officer, please visit our Privacy webpage or contact privacy-officer@unimelb.edu.au.
